Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments: Mr. Chen and Mr Iussa submitted that Iwata is different from the instant invention in that Iwata discloses the major and minor axes being the radius of the elliptical region and that the distances between the first and second elliptical regions are not a constant predetermined distance. The examiner agrees that this is not shown by Iwata but ask why does the structural relationship make the club head better than what is already known with respect to reinforced center regions within the prior art because the instant specification only notes a improvement with respect to how the reinforced region is made and not based on performance. The examiner suggested that the applicant place on the record why the clubhead is improved. No allowable subject matter has been agreed upon.
